Index to Volume 33
2003–2004

TITLE

The Aesthetics of Institutionalization: Breakdancing in France. Shapiro, Roberta. 33(4): 316–35.

Arts and Economic Prosperity: The Economic Impact of Nonprofit Arts Organizations and Their Audiences. Cohen, Randy, William Shaffer, and Benjamin Davidson. 33(1): 17–31.

Building Stronger National Movie Industries: The Case of Spain. Fernández-Blanco, Victor, and Juan Prieto-Rodríguez. 33(2): 142–60.

Cultural Diversity and Public Funding of the Arts: A View from Cultural Economics. Rushton, Michael. 33(2): 85–97.

The Effect of NEA Grants on the Contributions to Nonprofit Dance Companies. Smith, Thomas M. 33(2): 98–113.

Entrepreneurship or Cultural Darwinism? Privatization and American Cultural Patronage. Mulcahy, Kevin V. 33(3): 165–84.

Expressive Logic: A New Premise in Arts Advocacy. Jensen, Joli. 33(1): 65–80.

How Creative Are the Creative Industries? A Case of the Music Industry. Tschmuck, Peter. 33(2): 127–41

Introduction. Brooks, Arthur. 33(2): 83–84.

Introduction. Kirchberg, Volker, and Jan Marontate. 33(4): 259–62.

Introduction. Morris, Valerie B. 33(1): 3–4.

Introduction. Rentschler, Ruth. 33(3): 163–164.

Jazz Musicians: The Cost of the Beat. Jeffri, Joan. 33(1): 40–51.

Kotos, Choruses, or Cellos: Comparing Music Education Management in the United States and Japan. Smith, Anne W. 33(1): 52–64.

The Metropolitan Opera in the American Century: Opera Singers, Europe, and Cultural Politics. Siefert, Marsha. 33(4): 298–315.

Personal Networks Theory and the Arts: A Literature Review with Special Reference to Entrepreneurial Popular Musicians. Jackson, John, and Tony Oliver. 33(3): 240–56.

Politics and Policymaking: Tax Credits and Historic Preservation. Swaim, Richard. 33(1): 32–39.

Public Control of Museums in New Zealand and the United Kingdom: Implications for Entrepreneurship. Thompson, George. 33(3): 228–239.

Regional Development Through the Enterprise of Arts Leadership. Radbourne, Jennifer. 33(3): 211–27.

Scoping the Challenge: Entrepreneurial Arts Management in Times of Uncertainty. Burton, Christine. 33(3): 185–95.

The Social Construction of an Art Field: How Audience Informed the Institutionalization of Performance Art. Wheeler, Britta B. 33(4): 336–50.

Structures of Corporate Arts Patronage between the World Wars: A Case Study of the Corporate Leader P. S. du Pont. Kirchberg, Volker. 33(4): 263–80.

Technical Standards and Institutionalization Processes in New Deal Art Projects. Marontate, Jan. 33(4): 281–97.

Three Contemporary Reports That Influenced the Creation of the National Endowment for the Arts: A Retrospective. Urice, John K. 33(1): 5–16.

Understanding the Links Between Performing Artists and Audiences. Kushner, Roland J. 33(2): 114–26.

Unraveling Cultural Value. Geursen, Gus, and Ruth Rentschler. 33(3): 196–210.

AUTHORS

Brooks, Arthur. Introduction. 33(2): 83–84.

Burton, Christine. Scoping the Challenge: Entrepreneurial Arts Management in Times of Uncertainty. 33(3): 185–95.

Cohen, Randy, William Shaffer, and Benjamin Davidson. Arts and Economic Prosperity: The Economic Impact of Nonprofit Arts Organizations and Their Audiences. 33(1): 17–31

Fernández-Blanco, Victor, and Juan Prieto-Rodríguez. Building Stronger National Movie Industries: The Case of Spain. 33(2): 142–60.

Geursen, Gus, and Ruth Rentschler. Unraveling Cultural Value. 33(3): 196–210.

Jackson, John, and Tony Oliver. Personal Networks Theory and the Arts: A Literature Review with Special Reference to Entrepreneurial Popular Musicians. 33(3): 240–56.

Jeffri, Joan. Jazz Musicians: The Cost of the Beat. 33(1): 40–51

Jensen, Joli. Expressive Logic: A New Premise in Arts Advocacy. 33(1): 65–80.

Kirchberg, Volker, and Jan Marontate. Introduction. 33(4): 259–62.

Kirchberg, Volker. Structures of Corporate Arts Patronage between the World Wars: A Case Study of the Corporate Leader P. S. du Pont. 33(4): 263–80.

Kushner, Roland J. Understanding the Links Between Performing Artists and Audiences. 33(2): 114–26.

Marontate, Jan. Technical Standards and Institutionalization Processes in New Deal Art Projects. 33(4): 281–97.

Morris, Valerie B. Introduction. 33(1): 3–4.

Mulcahy, Kevin V. Entrepreneurship or Cultural Darwinism? Privatization and American Cultural Patronage. 33(3): 165–84.

Radbourne, Jennifer. Regional Development Through the Enterprise of Arts Leadership. 33(3): 211–27.

Rentschler, Ruth. Introduction. 33(3): 163–164.

Rushton, Michael. Cultural Diversity and Public Funding of the Arts: A View from Cultural Economics. 33(2): 85–97.

Shapiro, Roberta. The Aesthetics of Institutionalization: Breakdancing in France. 33(4): 316–35.

Siefert, Marsha. The Metropolitan Opera in the American Century: Opera Singers, Europe, and Cultural Politics. 33(4): 298–315.

Smith, Anne W. Kotos, Choruses, or Cellos: Comparing Music Education Management in the United States and Japan. 33(1): 52–64.

Smith, Thomas M. The Effect of NEA Grants on the Contributions to Nonprofit Dance Companies. 33(2): 98–113.

Swaim, Richard. Politics and Policymaking: Tax Credits and Historic Preservation. 33(1): 32–39.

Thompson, George. Public Control of Museums in New Zealand and the United Kingdom: Implications for Entrepreneurship. 33(3): 228–239.

Tschmuck, Peter. How Creative Are the Creative Industries? A Case of the Music Industry. 33(2): 127–41

Urice, John K. Three Contemporary Reports That Influenced the Creation of the National Endowment for the Arts: A Retrospective. 33(1): 5–16.

Wheeler, Britta B. The Social Construction of an Art Field: How Audience Informed the Institutionalization of Performance Art. 33(4): 336–50.